

In the editorial section, Anthony Costello et al. (406) announce WHO's collaborative effort to define the syndrome associated with congenital Zika virus infection. Islene Araujo de Carvalho et al. (407) call for papers for a special issue on innovation for healthy ageing. Michel Sidibé (408) points to an opportunity to secure funding for the next stage of the response to the human immunodeficiency virus epidemic.

Menelaos Tzafalias (411–412) reports from Greece on the fake lifejackets sold to refugees for their sea crossings to Europe. Richard Peto tells Andréia Azevedo Soares (413–414) why WHO should focus on the big causes of death from noncommunicable diseases.

Mopping up after Ebola

Kelly L Edmunds et al. (424–432) present ways to deal with contaminated waste.

Working towards universal health coverage

Kalipso Chalkidou et al. (462–467) argue that explicit ways of setting priorities are needed.

Making a convincing case for investment

Ian Anderson et al. (468–474) list the persuasive skills needed by health ministries.