“State Crime is to be welcomed for the good reason that it breaks one of the last taboos of political debate: the crimes of democratic states. We in the west identify our official enemies in the dictatorships we created or encouraged but only when their usefulness expires. However, we rarely recognise the crimes of the political forces we elect and which are committed in our name.”

John Pilger
STATE CRIME
Journal of the International State Crime Initiative

EDITORS IN CHIEF
Prof Penny Green (King’s College London)
Dr Tony Ward (University of Hull)
Dr Kristian Lasslett (University of Ulster)

EDITORIAL BOARD
Dr Vincenzo Bollettino (Harvard University)
Prof Scott Poynting (The University of Auckland)
Prof Jude McCulloch (Monash University)
Prof Sharon Pickering (Monash University)
Dr Elizabeth Stanley (Victoria University)
Prof Bill Rolston (University of Ulster)
Prof Frank Pearce (Queen’s University)
Prof Ronald Kramer (Western Michigan University)
Prof Raymond Michalowski (Northern Arizona University)
Prof Martha K. Huggins (Tulane University)
Prof Hilal Elver (University of California, Santa Barbara)
Dr Victoria Mason (Australian National University)

Prof Jeremy Keenan (SOAS, University of London)
Shazza Beyerle (Johns Hopkins University)
Prof Elisabeth Saatjian Weber (University of California, Santa Barbara)
Dr Hazel Cameron (University of St Andrews)
Prof Jennifer Leaning (Harvard University)
Prof Jennifer Schirmer (University of Oslo)
Prof David Kauzlarich (Southern Illinois University)
Dr Thomas MacManus (King’s College London)
Dr Cathy Gormley-Heenan (University of Ulster)
Dr Michael Grewcock (University of New South Wales)
Dr David Whyte (University of Liverpool)
Prof Steve Tombs (The Open University)

AIMS AND SCOPE OF THE JOURNAL
State Crime is the first peer-reviewed, international journal that seeks to disseminate leading research on the illicit practices of states. The concept of state crime is not confined to legally recognized states but can include any entity that exerts political and military control over a substantial territory. The journal’s focus is a reflection of the growing awareness within criminology that state criminality is endemic and acts as a significant barrier to security and development. Contributions from a variety of disciplinary and theoretical perspectives are welcomed. Topics covered by the journal include, torture; genocide and other forms of government and politically organized mass killing; war crimes; state-corporate crime; state-organized crime; natural disasters exacerbated by government (in)action; asylum and refugee policy and practice; state terror; political and economic corruption; and resistance to state violence and corruption.

ABOUT ISCI
State Crime is administered by the International State Crime Initiative (ISCI). ISCI is a multi-disciplinary, cross-institutional and international initiative designed to collate, analyse and disseminate research based knowledge about criminal state practices and resistance to them. Launched in 2010 with an inaugural lecture by The Independent’s Robert Fisk, ISCI actively develops and administers diverse spaces which enable state crime researchers to engage in meaningful dialogue with civil society in order to both understand and prevent illicit state practices. ISCI is institutionally supported by King’s College London and partnered with Harvard University, the University of Hull and the University of Ulster. Further information on ISCI and its members can be found at the initiative’s website: www.statecrime.org
CONTENTS

Articles

Border Controls in Europe: Policies and Practices Outside the Law 4
Fran Cetti

Wars of Choice or Crime? The National Interest, State Crime and Official Overseas British Military Interventions Since 1945 29
Alan Doig

The Political and Military Value of the “Set Piece” Killing Tactic in East Tyrone 1983–1992 50
Kevin Hearty

Resistance and Pride: The Murals of Orgosolo, Sardinia 73
Bill Rolston

Michael Grewcock

Reviews

K. Booth and T. Dunne, Terror in Our Time and R. Blakeley, State Terrorism and Neoliberalism: The North in the South 126
Richard Jackson

W. Chambliss, R. Michalowski and R. Kramer (eds), State Crime in the Global Age and D. Rothe, and C. Mullins (eds), State Crime: Current Perspectives 132
Simon Pemberton

Notes on the Contributors 136
Guidelines for Authors 138
Call for Papers 140
Subscriptions 141