In this issue

“For such purposes as”: Towards an embedded and embodied understanding of torture’s purpose
Ergin Cakal

Reimagining narratives of resistance: memory work in the London Tamil diaspora
Rachel Seoighe

Addressing Historic Injustice in Russia: The Case of Child Victims of Political Repression
Marina Belykh and Jane Henderson

Perceptions of Blameworthiness and Punitiveness Towards Government Officials and Business Executives in State-Corporate Crime Cases
Cedric Michel

Book reviews
Stańczak review of Green and Ward, State Crime and Civil Activism: On the Dialectics of Repression and Resistance
Shalbak review of Erakat, Justice for Some: Law and the Question of Palestine
Nielsen review of Woolford, This Benevolent Experiment: Indigenous Boarding Schools, Genocide, and Redress in Canada and the United States
Durdiyeva review of Bousquet, The Eye of War: Military Perception from the Telescope to the Drone
Whyte review of Brauman, Humanitarian Wars? Lies and Brainwashing
Keenan review of Usiskin, America’s Covert War in East Africa

Produced and distributed by

Cover design by Yusuf Sayman
www.ysayman.com

INTERNATIONAL STATE CRIME INITIATIVE
“I think there’s no challenge in our world quite as daunting as finding effective ways to address state crime. I believe that the future of democracy, world peace, and global justice each crucially depend on the capacity of peoples throughout the world to hold the state accountable for its failures to comply with law and its refusals to promote justice.”

Richard Falk
STATE CRIME

Journal of the International State Crime Initiative

EDITORS IN CHIEF
Prof Penny Green (Queen Mary University of London)
Prof Tony Ward (Northumbria University)
Prof Kristian Lasslett (University of Ulster)
Dr Thomas MacManus (Queen Mary University of London)

BOOK REVIEWS EDITOR
Dr Michael Grewcock (University of New South Wales)

ASSISTANT EDITOR
Sophie Knowles-Mofford

EDITORIAL BOARD
Dr Michael Grewcock (University New South Wales)
Prof Neve Gordon (Queen Mary University of London)
Prof Nadera Shalhoub-Kevorkian (The Hebrew University of Jerusalem)
Dr Vincenzo Bollettino (Harvard University)
Prof Scott Poyning (Queensland University of Technology)
Prof Jude McCulloch (Monash University)
Prof Sharon Pickering (Monash University)
Dr Elizabeth Stanley (Victoria University)
Prof Bill Rolston (University of Ulster)
Prof Frank Pearce (Queen’s University)
Prof Ron Kramer (Western Michigan University)
Prof Ray Michalowski (Northern Arizona University)
Prof Martha K. Huggins (Tulane University)

Prof Hilal Elver (University of California, Santa Barbara)
Dr Victoria Mason (Australian National University)
Prof Jeremy Keenan (SOAS, University of London)
Shaazka Beyerle (John Hopkins University)
Dr Rachel Seoighe (University of Kent)
Prof Elisabeth Saatjian Weber (University of California, Santa Barbara)
Dr Hazel Cameron (Pearl International Insights)
Prof Jennifer Leaning (Harvard University)
Prof Jennifer Schirmer (Harvard University/London School of Economics)
Prof David Kauzlarich (Southern Illinois University)
Dr Cathy Gormley Heenan (University of Ulster)
Dr Sam Raphael (University of Westminster)

AIMS AND SCOPE OF THE JOURNAL
State Crime is the first peer-reviewed, international journal that seeks to disseminate leading research on the illicit practices of states. The concept of state crime is not confined to legally recognized states but can include any entity that exerts political and military control over a substantial territory. The journal’s focus is a reflection of the growing awareness within criminology that state criminality is endemic and acts as a significant barrier to security and development. Contributions from a variety of disciplinary and theoretical perspectives are welcomed. Topics covered by the journal include: torture; genocide and other forms of government and politically organized mass killing; war crimes; state–corporate crime; state–organized crime; natural disasters exacerbated by government (in)action; asylum and refugee policy and practice; state terror; political and economic corruption; and resistance to state violence and corruption. See here for a guide for contributors: http://statecrime.org/journal/notes-for-contributors/

ABOUT ISCI
State Crime is administered by the International State Crime Initiative (isci). ISCI is a multi-disciplinary, cross-institutional and international initiative designed to collate, analyse and disseminate research-based knowledge about criminal state practices and resistance to them. Launched in 2010 with an inaugural lecture by Robert Fisk, ISCI actively develops and administers diverse spaces which enable state crime researchers to engage in meaningful dialogue with civil society in order to both understand and prevent illicit state practices. ISCI is institutionally supported by Queen Mary University of London and partnered with Northumbria University and the University of Ulster. Further information on ISCI and its members can be found at the initiative’s website: www.statecrime.org
CONTENTS

Articles

“For such purposes as”: Towards an embedded and embodied understanding of torture’s purpose 152
Ergün Cakal

Reimagining narratives of resistance: memory work in the London Tamil diaspora 169
Rachel Seoighe

Addressing Historic Injustice in Russia: The Case of Child Victims of Political Repression 196
Marina Belykh and Jane Henderson

Cedric Michel

Book reviews

Stańczak review of Green and Ward, State Crime and Civil Activism: On the Dialectics of Repression and Resistance 246

Shalbak review of Erakat, Justice for Some: Law and the Question of Palestine 250

Nielsen review of Woolford, This Benevolent Experiment: Indigenous Boarding Schools, Genocide, and Redress in Canada and the United States 254

Durdiyeva review of Bousquet, The Eye of War: Military Perception from the Telescope to the Drone 262

Whyte review of Brauman, Humanitarian Wars? Lies and Brainwashing 266

Keenan review of Usiskin, America’s Covert War in East Africa 270

Notes on contributors 274